INFO.

CONFIDENTIAL

1. In the latter part of July 1950 a submarine whose identity has not been established was observed in Yugoslav waters near Split. An alarm was sounded immediately to the Yugoslav Naval Fleet Command and to the Glider Base, and aircraft were sent out in search of the submarine. In spite of the fact that the search went on for several days, there were no positive results.
2. It is rumored that the submarine was Soviet and that it was patrolling the Dalmatian coastal waters from its base in Valona. This is another indication of the presence of Soviet submarines in the Adriatic, and consequently in the Mediterranean Sea. No official report was issued on the incident in the Yugoslav press.
